Ai Media is an Australian and UK-based speech-to-text technology innovator dedicated to ending social, educational and vocational exclusion faced by those with hearing loss.

The company has developed a number of inclusive technology solutions designed to connect those affected to a wider audience.

Ai-Media's online, real-time service delivers captions for pre-recorded broadcast television, as well as live captions for broadcast, schools, universities, TAFE (Australia's largest provider of vocational education and training), the workplace, events, live web steaming, and online videos.
