With alugha you can present your videos on YouTube in different languages, without having to re-produce them multiple times.

As a viewer you can watch videos in different languages without having to reload them.

As a video producer you can offer your videos in all the languages you have available as soundtracks. The descriptions and titles are also translated.

alugha supports the 50 most used languages in the world and is free for most producers.

Currently alugha's support is for YouTube only but the team are also working on other platforms including Facebook and Vimeo.
