Bookbuddi is a learning program that allows for simultaneous study of images and text. A speedreading tool that runs alongside pictures enables a learner to easily understand equations that are explained to them as they look at them.

There is one diagram/picture per page, with easy to follow (speed controllable) audio text, so your eyes can study the diagram, while you listen, and don't have to read.

Bookbuddi makes it easy to access the whole book, unlike many online forms and texts.
